AuraPortal

These comments pertain to AuraPortal BPMS v.3.1

Strengths

- AuraPortal keeps delivering an example of next-generation BPMS. The company understands that BPMS products need to be oriented toward business users.
- In its newest release, AuraPortal has introduced innovative functions, such as Dynamically activated Divisions, that support the combination of runtime creation and control of tasks, case-handling features and ad hoc task management.
- AuraPortal BPMS features model-driven execution (models can be executed immediately, without the need to program any code) based on a process dictionary, and is completely Web-based.
